Controversies loomed at Whiteland Community High School. Tempers flared . . . and cooled. Opinions were expressed in Student Council and Home Room; concessions were made by both sides.

The community was actively involved in all phases of school life. Trophies were given to outstanding students and several Seniors were awarded scholarships by community organizations. The school also became involved in community affairs. Various groups collected food for needy families at Thanksgiving and Christmas. The WCHS student body gave over $200.00 to help pay for surgery expenses of Steven Fleener.

Whiteland Community High School adjusted to the many personalities and attitudes of its students and faculty. We remained individuals yet became one. United We Stand.

Activities at WCHS— unbelievable

The 55-minute school periods bind together student and teachers five days a week. The Optimist Club annually awards outstanding students in the fields of Language Arts, Math, Agriculture, Music, Art, and Industrial Arts. Many students "blow their minds" over Mr. Howell's chemistry and Mr. Head's college math.

But weekends do come and teachers and students do groove together. From chaperoning sock hops to building floats to classroom activities, teachers work with students to unify the student body of WCHS.

United in victory—alone in defeat

Luck wasn't with the Whiteland Warriors during the 70-71 season. Plagued by injuries to key players, Carl Short's Warriors ended the season with a 7-14 record. Everything from stolen basketball uniforms before the sectional, to a mix-up in scoring at the Danville game caused the Warriors problems.

Unfortunately, the student body only supported the team and coach when Whiteland was ahead. Criticism was heaped on Coach Short and the team whenever they were defeated.

Pupils spend school day in various ways

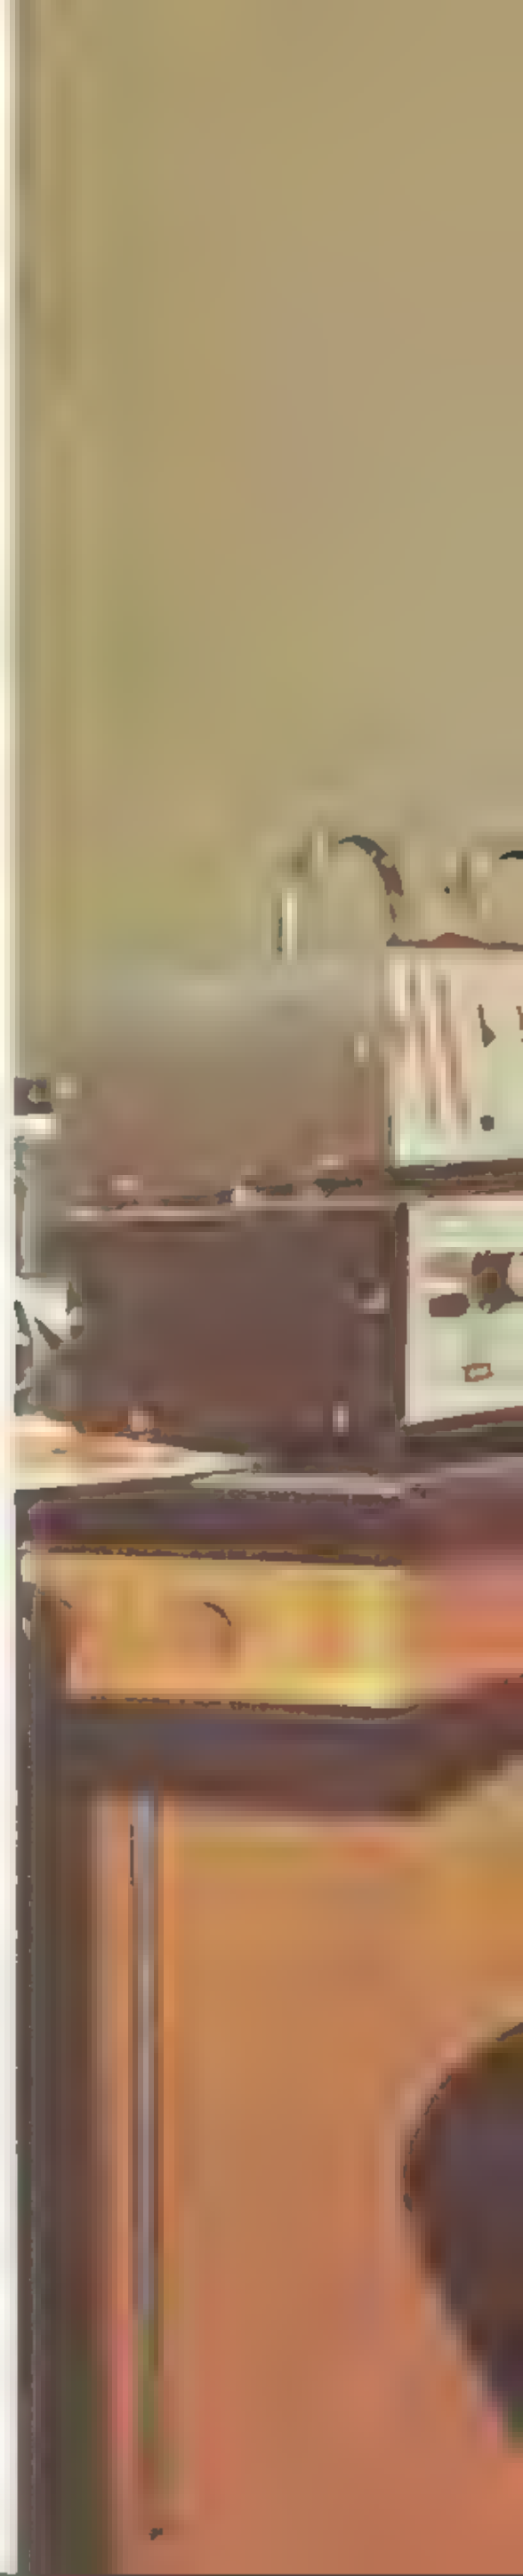

The entire school day has many facets. The 800 students attend 55 minute class periods in subjects from electricity to home economics. After classes students attend committee meetings and athletic practices.

Vocal music pride of WCHS

The Choral Department was well represented this year as both Swing Choir and Entrees traveled statewide to perform. Both groups have appeared on television and participated in Solo and Ensemble Contest. During the spring the Entrees performed at the National Youth Conference and at the State Future Farmers of America Convention at Purdue. The Swing Choir performed at the Home Show in Indianapolis and were asked to perform there three additional times. They performed for many community projects: Kappa Kappa Sigma Sweetheart Party, Greater Whiteland Kiwanis Ladies' Night, and Morgantown's Eastern Star Friend's Night.

Donna Egbert crowned Annual queen

Donna Egbert, class of 1971, was crowned Queen of the WARRIOR. Selected from eight girls, Donna was elected by a penny-a-vote contest. One of her many activities was being a Wrestler-ette: making signs and leading yells at the wrestling meets.

Homecoming 1971-Seniors reign

Student Council sponsored both football and basketball homecomings again this year. Seniors Janet Polley and Diane McPeak reigned over Football and Basketball Homecomings, respectively. The Warriors went down to defeat against county rival Greenwood 20-12 in football. Basketball homecoming foe was Triton Central from Shelby County. The Warriors defeated the Trojans in an upset overtime victory 61-60.

Senior Terri LeTourneau, escorted by Jim Suding, was voted Queen of the Sunshine Dance by seventy-five attending couples.

Fantasy of Candyland— reality !!!

"Candyland" came to life at the annual Sunshine Dance held in November at Camelot Hall, Franklin. Lollipops and candy canes decorated tables while the Bill Adair Orchestra provided dancing music. Terri LeTourneau, WCHS senior, was crowned Queen of Candyland

A quiet moment at the Sunshine Dance was captured by Jimmy Williams and her escort, Robert Smith.

Seniors enjoy crazy activities

After a year of drudgery and hard work, the Class of 1971 celebrated a Hobo Day. Dressed in unbelievable attire, the seniors played red rover and ate sack lunches at noon.

Before school on Hobo Day, Mrs. Baughman held a breakfast for her College English 12 class. Mode of transportation varied from motorcycles to skates to bicycles and cars. Also attending the breakfast was the student teacher from Franklin College, Miss Lois Smith. Miss Smith taught the College English class the last six weeks of school.

Whether learning a new dance, learning from a textbook, or putting on a show, the people of WCHS communicate and work together to get the job done. This fine communication between teacher and student, student and administrator, and administrator and teacher, is what WCHS is all about.

Such co-operation is not easy. It often takes much effort in order to get along with others. Most find this out very soon, but some find out too late.

If WCHS is to function properly, all must give and take fairly. United we stand, divided we fall.

Officials make decisions

The job of any school official is a difficult one. Perhaps the most difficult tasks facing our administration are determining school policy and making the important decisions connected with running Whetland Community High School.

The school board and WCHS principal Mr. Sleighter made among others, decisions concerning finances, the teaching staff, the dress code, and school curriculum. As the new athletic director and assistant principal, Mr. Wiley scheduled athletic events and was responsible for seeing that these ran smoothly.

Also deserving mention are the secretaries Mrs. Melvin and Mrs. Stillabower, and Mrs. Harbert and Mrs. Rynerson, treasurers. They assist the officials in keeping records and in correspondence with businesses and other schools.

Maintenance, guidance are important

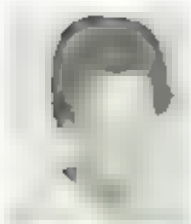

The WCHS guidance department works closely with the students. The guidance counselors assist students in making out schedules, which was an especially difficult job this year because of changing to the modular scheduling system.

The cooks, under Head Cook Norma Harris, also had a difficult job. It is hard to please everyone. They turned out good meals day after day and also cooked for various banquets and for junior high meals.

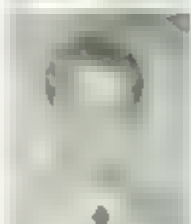

The matrons and janitors had the seemingly endless job of keeping WCHS clean. They are four people whom WCHS could not easily do without.

Mrs. Margaret Ketring began her teaching career in 1939, and taught Home Economics and English. She also sponsored Sunshine Society and was a District Dean

Mrs. Ketring came to Whiteland Community High School when Clark and Pleasant Township schools consolidated in 1965. After teaching at WCHS for five years, she was unable to return to school in the fall of 1970 for health reasons. She died October 13, 1970, at St. Francis Hospital

Students use new skills in language arts

The English department, the largest WCHS faculty department, worked together this year to guide students in learning new skills. Basic language techniques were learned in the English classes and then applied to other classes.

Journalism students learned a great deal about writing and news reporting. Members of the newspaper and yearbook staffs applied their knowledge to the school publications.

Speech classes learned the proper ways to give various kinds of speeches. Mr. Kenneth Cragen was replaced in January by Mr. John Anderson, shown at left.

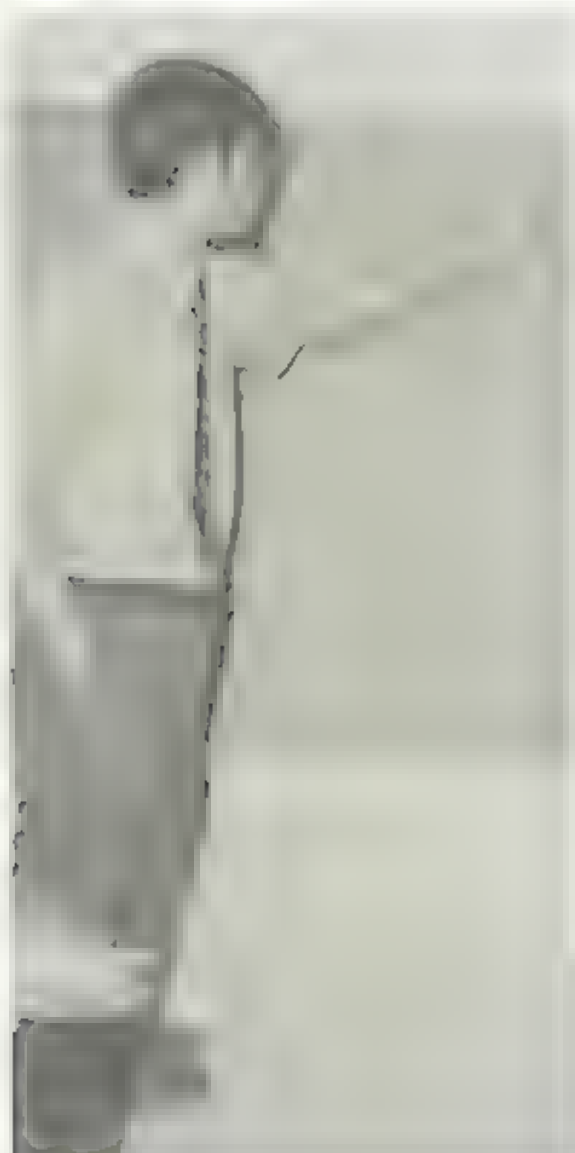

Some students broadened their knowledge of language by studying Latin, French, or Spanish. While the language lab was used for French and Spanish, Latin students benefited by doing projects related to Latin.

The library was used by nearly all students either for doing special work for classes or just for reading good books.

Science and math advance knowledge

The science and math departments of WCHS once again led the school in academic excellence. The science department received new lab materials for physics and added a new biology and freshman science teacher, Ronald Deckard, to the staff.

There were no staff changes in the math department this year, but new books were purchased and put to use by math scholars.

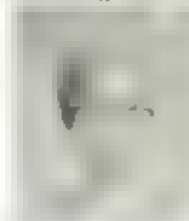

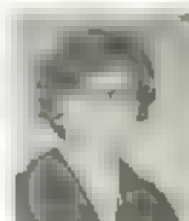

The math and science departments united to better prepare WCHS students for the future.

Students study past and present

The WCHS social studies department aided students in learning about the past, the present, and the future. Students studying world history read about events of the past. Sociology and government classes focused on present and future problems of society.

Government classes "learned by doing" as Mr. Combs' classes participated in a mock election in November. These classes also held mock trials in order to learn about the judicial system of the United States.

Mr. Mitchell's classes frequently viewed slides that he had taken on his many trips. Mr. Thayer's classes often became involved in "discussions" concerning world problems.

Students prepare for vocations

The Home Ec. Industrial Arts, and Agriculture departments of WCHS help students to apply their knowledge to practical use

As in years past, the Ag department under Mr. James Cummings brought honor to our school by winning county contests in crop and soil judging. In connection with this department the Future Farmers of America were quite active this year

The Industrial Arts department under the leadership of Mr. Philip Johnson was also active. Outside of regular class work they took a field trip and worked with other organizations by printing tickets and programs for various events.

Girls in the Home Ec. classes, besides learning cooking and sewing skills, learned to plan for their futures as the homemakers of tomorrow

Business and PE classes are active

The WCHS Business department is another department that helps prepare students going into vocations after graduation. Business students acquire skills in typing, accounting, and other things necessary for success in the business world. Again this year this department, headed by Mrs. Norma Clark, sent several students to the county business contest.

The Physical Education department is one that is quite active in the literal sense. Both girls' and boys' classes did much exercising and lap-running as well as applying their physical skills to various games.

Students learn through performing

Fine arts classes are for those students who have special talents to display. It is especially important in these classes for students and teachers to unite to put together good shows, concerts, and exhibits. These teachers put in many extra hours to insure first-rate performances.

The band, among other activities, put on two concerts and performed for home football games. Mrs. Shirley Janeway assisted Mr. McGrew with the band this year.

The choral department had several shows for the school besides performing in the Johnson County Talent Show and Choral Festival. Entree shows included a performance on WISH TV's "Roads to Learning."

The art department and Mr. Stone worked "behind the scenes" at performances by designing scenery and programs.

Class of 71 unites for final year

The Senior class of 1971 became more and more unified as their last year at WCHS drew to a close. The year quickly seemed to pass for Seniors because of the many activities they were involved in.

Plans for graduation began early in the year when announcements

Seniors fully appreciated feelings of unity during their final week when they realized it would be the last week they would be a united Senior class.

Seniors retain many memories

Many memorable experiences are had during one's senior year. Football homecoming will always be remembered by Queen Janet Polley and her escort Dan Winger. Then there's the powderpuff football game in which boys were so-called cheerleaders, Craig Mitchell, Jim Wooten, Jack Pass, Dennis Thompson, and Paul Holeman not only served as the senior cheerleaders but as the band at halftime also. Then, come the quieter moments during the senior year—Roger Simpson represents the typical senior concerned about the world in which he is about to enter. All of these memories crowd themselves into the minds of every senior in WCHS.

Production of class play brings unity

Among the many activities in their last year, the class play ranks high in the minds of many seniors. The hard work of the stage crew, actors and actresses, and directors proved to be worthwhile as it helped the class of 1971 to realize their potential for their life ahead.

Events such as Kathy Sachs and Nevalin Davis working diligently to draw Jim Wooten a mustache, and Terry Drake's unexpendable prompting of lines helped to make "The Mouse That Roared" a unified class project.

Locker decor expresses senior life

Seniors express themselves in various ways during their last year of high school. One of these ways is the way in which the lockers are decorated. Boy-friends' names, posters, and other numerous items that remind seniors of many memorable events during their senior year are posted in lockers throughout the senior hallway.

Senior antics in good fun

During the senior year, many stunts are pulled; the majority in good fun. Sometimes it is these stunts that bring unity throughout a class. Seniors delight in uniqueness

Uniqueness is a word that can proudly be used by all seniors. Whether it be Gary Rhodes, Jerry Shelton, and Pat Norris receiving their senior keys or seniors having a last get together for breakfast at 6:45 in the morning, these are truly unique liberties that can only be experienced by the senior class.

Year-end activities unite seniors

In the final few weeks of the school year, the seniors participated in many memorable activities. To start with, seniors enjoyed the prom held in their honor by the junior class. Hobo Day was next and all seniors agreed this was truly their day.

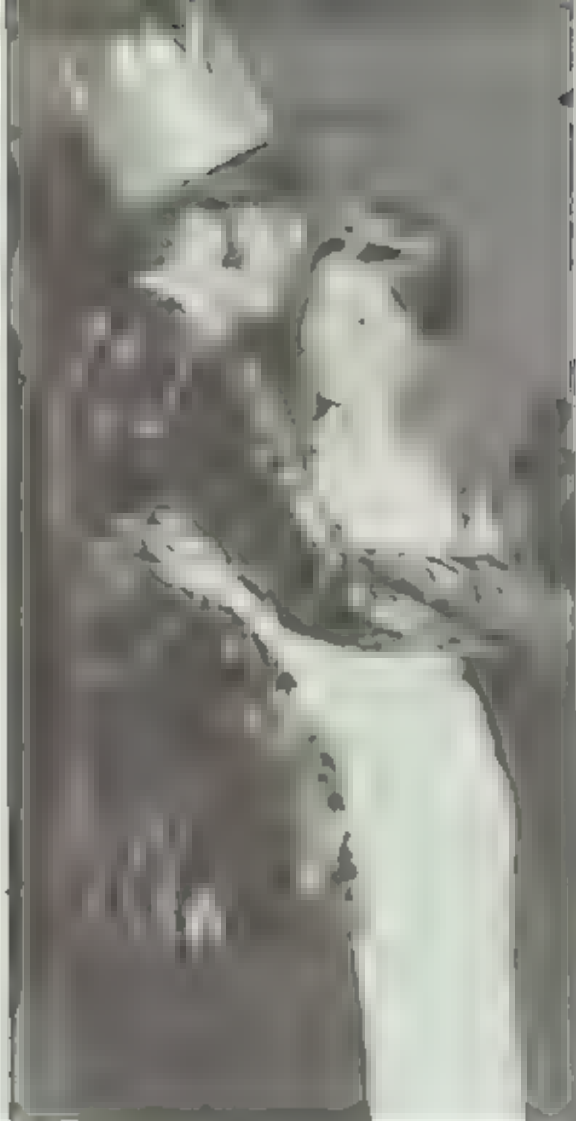

Sunshine held a breakfast in honor of senior Sunshine members and Mrs. Baughman held a breakfast for her College English seniors.

Finally, May 23 rolled around. In Glen Ray Gymnasium the seniors heard different speakers and received their diplomas. As President Fred Ross led the class in the changing of their tassles, mixed emotions were felt, as many realized that this would be the last time the senior class of 1971 would be united as a class.

Building their own float was one of many activities of the class of 1972

Class of '72 prepare for later lives

The class of 1972 became unified through the many activities characteristic of their junior year. Receiving their prized class rings, winning the coveted spirit trophy, selling concessions during basketball season, and working toward their own Junior Prom kept the juniors occupied while at the same time uniting them. This unification came not only through activities but also through their classes. Whether in chemistry class or a shop class, the juniors worked together so as to benefit each other. Emerging from these elements came the class of 1972—a body united with goals of a better life.

Juniors strive to learn more

Juniors, through various club and class functions, learned to cooperate as one and strive toward perfection. Whether it be a goal of National Honor Society or being speedy and efficient in working in the concession area during basketball games, being able to get along and to cooperate are two very important responsibilities the juniors strove to learn.

Sophomores prepare for years to come

The sophomore year in high school is very different from the other high school years. Even though sophomores have experienced one year of preparation, they are not yet ready to face their junior year.

The class of '73 united to make their sophomore year worthwhile. The class, with the help of their officers and sponsors decided on a soap-selling project to aid them in building their junior prom fund.

But of course the highlight of their year was choosing their classrings. These things will help to keep unity in the class of '73 for years to come.

Frosh become unified in activities

In their first year of high school at WCHS, the freshmen learned a new way of life by sharing many new and challenging experiences. Choosing part of their own classes, being harrassed by upper-classmen, participating in formal initiations, and joining in with the high school activities brought unity within the class of 1974.

Leading the way for the frosh are class officers Tom Dougherty, president,

Unity was the word as the 1970-71 Warriors pulled together for a team effort in every sport.

Football finally came of age at WCHS as the Warriors shattered all attendance records. Cross country and basketball drew larger crowds as the teams tackled their toughest schedule yet.

Wrestling and baseball teams continued their winning ways as they drew more attention than ever, while track and golf grew and became unified in the tradition of Whiteland Community High School.

Warriors unify through spirit and enthusiasm

The 1970 football season was a year of enthusiasm. The Warriors, coached by Dave Conrad, showed more spirit and fire than ever before. The season record was 4-5-1, the tie being with county rival Franklin. There were no real individual standouts on the team, it was entirely a team effort. Many underclassmen played a big role in the Warrior's season which will help Whiteland to a more exciting season next year. The Warrior team is a living example of the unity of Whiteland Community High School.

Warriors run for a united team effort

The 1970-71 Warrior Cross Country team finished with a 4-4 dual meet record and a 1-1 triangular meet record after competing in one of the toughest schedules in the history of WCHS.

With only 2 seniors graduating, the Warriors will be back with one of the most experienced teams ever. Back next to unite our harriers will be Ron Wininger, who led all Warrior runners by winning 6 dual meets and second in all other meets. As this year's most valuable runner, Ron will be back to lead the Warriors once again to the best season in W.C.H.S. history.

Wrestlers show unity and spirit

The WCHS wrestlers, with their winning tradition came thru with a 9-4 record for 1970-71. Led by six seniors, the Warriors had Mid-State Champions in David Egbert and Jim Suding. Bill Blake, Jon Howson, and Jeff Wakefield were Whiteland's county champs, Blake also placed second in the Mid-State and Howson, third. With the loss of experience the underclassmen will have to unify to carry on the tradition of WCHS.

Warriors gain experience

The 1970-71 basketball season was a year of surprise and learning. Under a new system and new coaches the Warriors fought against inexperience and lack of height to pull many surprises, such as beating Sectional champ Franklin. With only two seniors leaving, the Warriors will be back to keep up the tradition of past WCHS basketball teams.

Cindermen smash six track records

The 1970-71 track season was started on a bad note because the new all-weather track couldn't be completed in time, but that was soon forgotten as Ray Linehan set three new records, including the high jump at 6', high hurdles in 15.0 seconds, and the low hurdles in 21.0 seconds.

There were new records set in the pole vault at 12'3" by Bill Galloway, shot put by Jerry Crossman at 49', and the mile run by Ron Wining in 4:34.4.

Warriors gain much experience

The 1970-71 baseball team, under first-year Coach Harold Hickman, gained valuable experience through one of the roughest schedules ever faced by any previous diamond squad. Compiling a 9-11 record, the Warriors found unity by the continued use of under-classmen in key spots in the starting line-up.

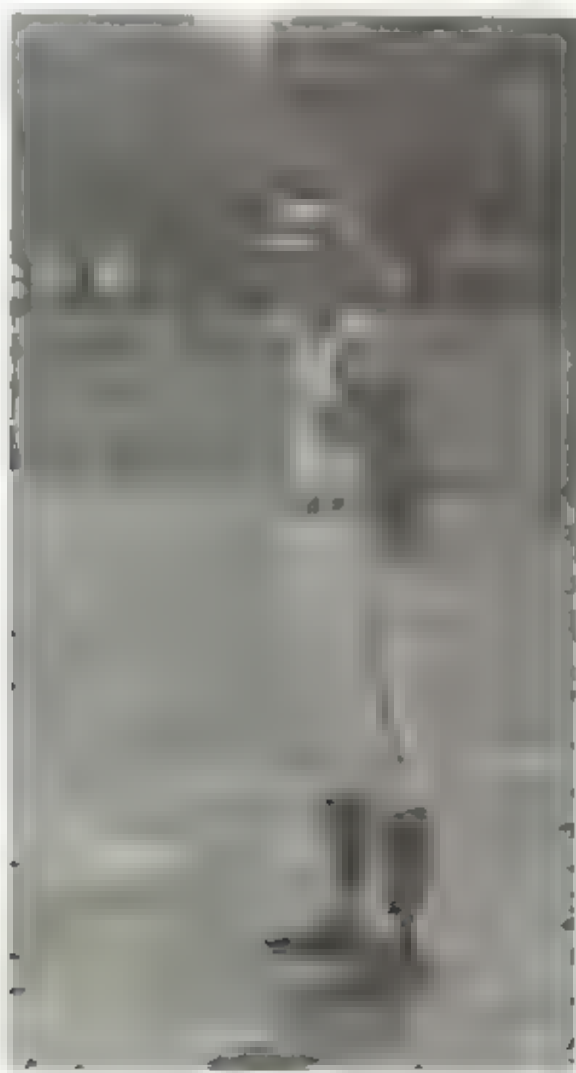

Mike Lucid and Bill Blake led the team as co-captains while Jim Wooten earned the Most Valuable Player award along with the scholastic and highest batting average awards.

Juniors Mike Nachand and Larry Polesel helped with their fielding and pitching. Only three starting positions will have to be filled because of graduation which will give the Warriors excellent experience to continue the baseball tradition of WCHS.

Athletics bring unity to WCHS

Sports at WCHS during the 1970-71 season were filled with sadness and happiness as the athletes pushed, shot, ran, vaulted, and dribbled their way to new records, thrills, and excitement

Cheerleaders strive to create spirit

"Oh Spirit!" This was the often heard cry of the Whiteland Community High School cheerleaders. Even though spirit among the fans was not as great as it was in years before, the cheerleaders, with the backing of the fans, supported the teams faithfully.

National Cheerleaders Association Camp at Vincennes University was among the many activities participated in by WCHS cheerleaders. There, both reserve and varsity cheerleaders received many awards, among them the Spirit Stick of the week, the most coveted award given.

GAA girls strive to be athletes

The Girls' Athletic Association scheduled a busy 1970-71 year. In October, sponsor Miss Patricia Clark, President Michele Deakins, and Vice-President Susan Wendt attended a Leadership Camp at North Webster, Indiana. The GAA sponsored the Whiteland-Greenwood faculty game. Led by Carl Short with 27 points and Phil Winning with 23 points the Warriors came out on top. Proceeds for the games went to buy GAA awards.

For the first time, GAA held a formal initiation in the school cafeteria. Afterwards, the surprise informal initiation was held. Relay races and jelly bean rolling agonized new members.

A varsity and reserve volleyball team, and a varsity basketball team were chosen. They competed against Center Grove, Franklin, and several Marion County schools.

In the spring, seniors Michele Deakins, Becky McClain, and Susan Wendt traveled to Indiana University to receive the highest GAA award, the State Plaque.

Receiving instructions from Marshall E. Mitchell are Warriors Steve Mattick, Jim Bauer, and Carl Short, GAA Schoolers.

Activities and clubs are very important in a student's life. Clubs help to bring unity among the students.

There were many different kinds of activities going on at WCHS. One of our former students, Merrill Kelsay, brought fame to Whiteland Community High by being named Star Farmer of America.

Then the student body united to fight to save little Steven Fleener, who underwent open heart surgery in February. We collected over $200.00 for the Fleener family.

All of these activities have helped to bring the students closer together as a student body.

Tempo of WCHS varies daily

Students at WCHS are constantly on the move, sharing ideas and experiences. For the first time, a coffee house was opened to English students for one day. Teachers participated in many student activities: we are united!

NHS taps new members in April

On April 18, the Whiteland Chapter of the National Honor Society tapped 34 new members, five seniors and 29 juniors. Members must have a 90 average on a 120 scale. Teachers then evaluate prospective members on scholarship, service, leadership, and character.

Officers for the 1970-71 year were President Jim Wooten, Vice President Bruce McClain, Treasurer Michele Deakins, and Secretary Terri LeTourneau. Sponsors were Mrs. Norma Clark and Mr. Marshall E. Mitchell.

Council faces diverse problems

Student Council was faced with dissension and unrest among students this year. President Pam Zick presided at meetings concerning dress code, leaving the school grounds for lunch, and Homecoming activities. Because the Student Council can only make recommendations to the administration, students were not always satisfied with the Council's actions and authority.

Service clubs aid school, town

The Boys service clubs at WCHS were actively involved in most community and school affairs. Activities varied from selling stationery to sweeping the gym, to cleaning tables at Gateway Learning Center.

Career clubs help shape future plans

Latin, French, and Spanish clubs were very active with initiations, conventions, parties, speakers and projects.

Each club's members built projects to represent the customs and traditions of the country whose language they studied.

Each year Latin Club has a Roman Banquet where the first year members are auctioned off as slaves for the evening. The other language clubs have their own special initiations and projects.

This year Christy Bailey was chosen to represent WCHS as the historian of the Indiana Junior Classical League.

Students prepare for tomorrow

The career clubs at WCHS were active state and nation-wide.

Future Business Leaders of America were represented on the state level by state officers Sandy Whiteside and Anne Venter.

The Future Farmers of America were represented by Merrill Kelsay who was named American Star Farmer. A judging team consisting of Tom and David Bechman, Bruce McClain, and Don Copeland, placed fifth in national competition.

Future Homemakers presented a style show and Future Teachers of America taught classes for a day. FTA was represented in the state Miss FTA contest by Maribeth Owen, who was state runner-up.

Chuck Cornelison, Sharyn Miller, and Gordon Gant prepare the punch for FBLA installation of officers. FFA members discuss happenings of a unique day. Adorning the teachers' lounge in preparation of FFA week is Maribeth Owen. Charlie Gardner receives a shoeshine from an FFA initiate. An FFA member mows grass on a field farmed by the FFA. In the FFA style show were, seated, Nevalin Davis, and standing, Connie Neeman, Suzanne Acton and Linda Harrison.

Keeping busy makes time fly for clubs

The Red Cross Club sponsored Friendship boxes to go overseas to other schools in need of equipment. They sent school supplies and also toys to some of the children. This club also made tray favors for the children's ward at the Johnson County Hospital and for Janies Nursing Home in Franklin.

Health Careers Club made cookies at Christmas time and sent them to Welcome Nursing Home for each person and those whose diet would not permit cookies received apples.

Each club meeting featured speakers in the area of health careers.

Math club spends time working on special math problems. One of the smaller clubs of the school, the Math club challenges those participating students to develop a mathematical mind.

Publications staffs work and play hard

The newspaper and yearbook staffs cooperated and worked very hard this year to put out excellent publications. Members really found out that being on the staffs is a lot of fun but also a great deal of hard work.

The SMOKE SIGNALS staff was responsible for writing, printing, and circulating WCHS news. News stories and feature items were contributed by the journalism classes and edited by the newspaper staff.

The WARRIOR staff had a specific goal in mind--to equal the first-place rating which was received for last year's WARRIOR. Staff members sold ads, cropped pictures, and wrote copy for what they hope will be a prize-winning yearbook.

Adviser for both staffs was Mrs. Martha Sanders. Recipients of the journalism awards were Susan Wendt and Barbara Jones, editors of the WARRIOR and SMOKE SIGNALS, respectively.

Band affords opportunity for work, fun

Pompons and majorettes work hard to prepare halftime shows they performed at each home game and they brought home a first place ribbon from state contest.

The band took off from their hard work long enough to provide some entertainment for the community. The donkeys were wild and the teachers, funny as they played a humorous game of basketball.

To earn money for their many activities, the band sold calendars and candy.

Band gets first place at contest

The WCHS band had its most successful year ever. The band attended band camp and marched in the State Fair contest and at the Southport contest. The concert band placed first at Ben Davis High School. They also played at one of the Indiana Pacer's home games. Next year WCHS will have a concert band and a prep band.

Groups encourage creativity

The art club provides the opportunity for talented art students to serve the school. This year's club made posters for the many student programs. They also painted flats for the Dramatics club play and the spring Entrees show.

Members of Thespians distinguished themselves through various productions and other services to the performing arts.

Skits, signs activate school spirit

Comedy skits and signs helped to stimulate school spirit during the 1971-72 school year.

Numbers of creative students stayed for hours after school to paint signs boosting spirit for each ball game. Booster club members and fans cheered loudly at pep sessions and sports events.

There was competition among the classes. The class of 1972 successfully defended their title as the most boisterous and spirited class of WCHS. They were presented with an engraved trophy for the second year in a row.

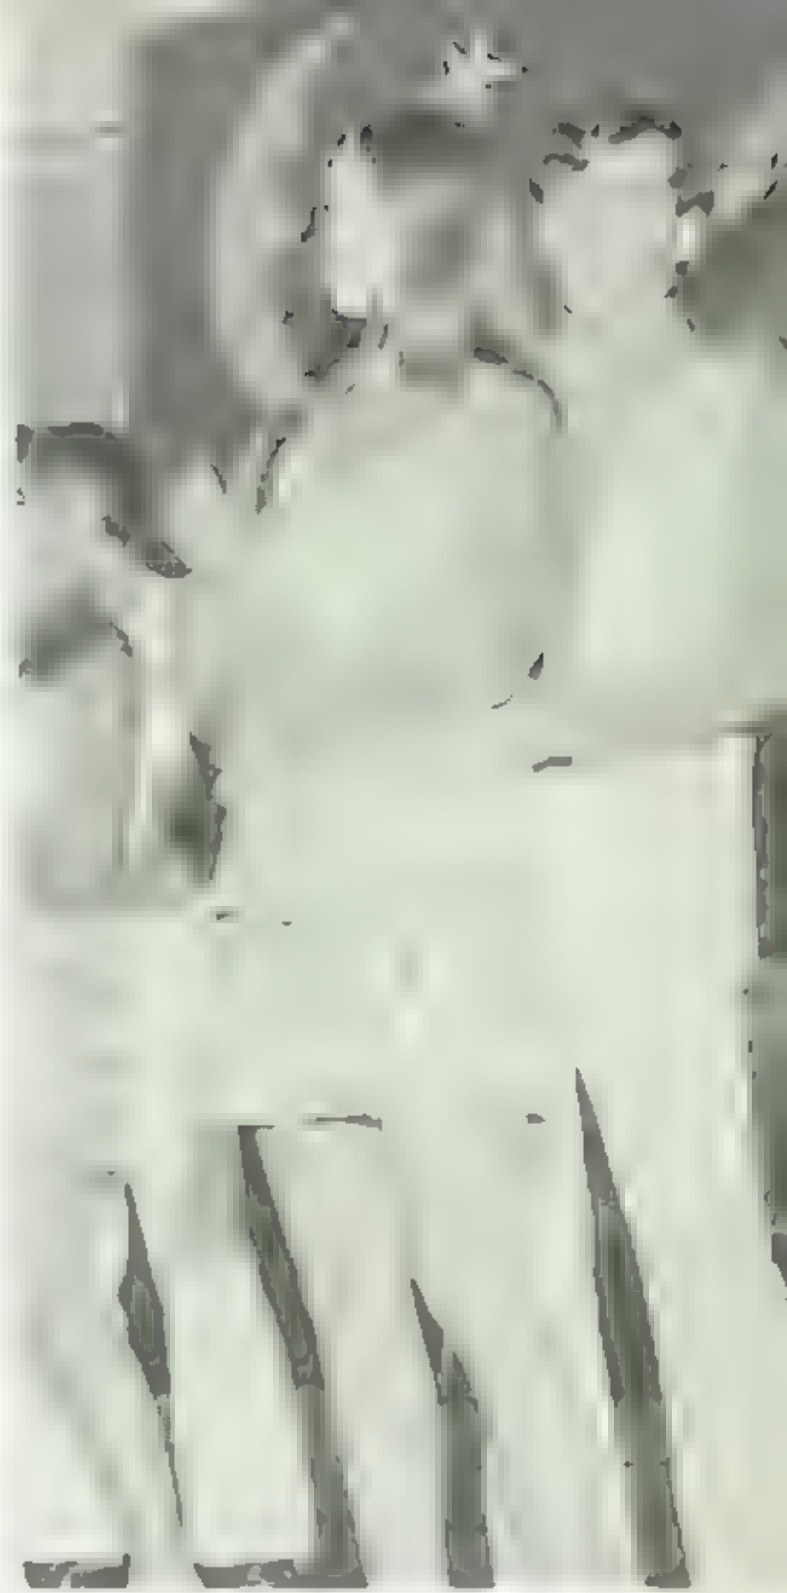

Swing Choir radiates enthusiasm

The Swing Choir of WCHS came into its own this year with a new look and a new sound. Under the sponsorship of Mrs. Parker the first semester, and Mrs. Sanders the second semester, seven couples moved into a busy world of rehearsals, choreography, and performances. Their repertoire expanded to include show tunes, spirituals, rock, and novelty numbers.

Besides the work, there was always time for fun, and each member of the group gained much from the experiences he had

Hard work of dramatist pays off

A lot more goes on to give a play than meets the eye. Backstage is always a hustle and bustle with costumes, props and makeup in the way and everyone running around.

All this was true of the 1971 Dramatics Club play "Mother is a Freshman." Mrs. Abigail Fortitude Adams spent all her late husband's insurance money and is unable to send her daughter back to college unless she takes a scholarship for girls named Abigail Fortitude. Her daughter is disturbed because her mother is in love with the same man she is and also because "mother is a freshman."

WCHS honored by many winners

The Optimist Club of New Whiteland presented trophies to Betty Dehoney, Science; Iris Higgins, Jeanne Shannon, Art; Jim Wooten, Math; Faye Harbert, Foreign Language; Nevalin Davis, Home Economics; Susan Wendt, Language Arts; Bruce McClain, Agriculture; Jim Reed, Industrial Arts; and Mary Yoke, Music.

Advertisers in the Whiteland area have stood together to help support the school activities at WCHS. These activities include athletics, publications, and student productions.

In athletics, advertisers furnished the funds for the publishing of programs. Football and basketball calendars were distributed to the student body also.

The SMOKE SIGNALS and the WARRIOR are WCHS publications which have been generously supported by the local advertisers.

Many firms and businesses have donated time and materials in making student performances a success.

Through the efforts of our advertisers, the community has come closer together with a common goal.
